ABOUT ME

I am intrigued by the way in which colour affects how I feel, the process of combining colour with traditional and non-traditional materials, and as a vehicle in itself is fundamental to my practice. Exploring the relationship between colour, light, space and form I work intuitively to create an outcome, using the opportunity to investigate further via the unforeseen.

I have recently become involved in re-establishing and artist's network "supporting and connecting artists in Teesdale" - TeesdaleArtNet.

Working from my home in the beautiful village of Whorlton, near the town of Barnard Castle I create, exhibit and sell my work.

As well as running weekly Art and Craft classes in surrounding villages, I also deliver workshops for schools and art societies.
